

Alli – The Cocker Spaniel

Alli the Cocker Spaniel was diagnosed with a Bacterial Infection which covered her whole body as well as an ear infection on the 20 November 2015.

She was treated with an anti-fungal medication, antibiotics and cortisone by the vet.

In addition to the medication we treated her with Pure Vet (5 drops of Pure Vet to 5 drops of water administered orally twice daily) as well as 5 drops of Pure Vet per 1 litre of drinking water and sprayed her with Pure Mist twice daily.

Alli went into the vets for weekly consultations and to monitor the progress of the infection.

At her 4 week check-up, the vet (who knew that we were treating Alli with “something else” in conjunction with his prescribed medication) was extremely impressed with the progress she had made (as this fungus takes a minimum of 8 weeks to clear up) as she looked like a totally different dog. He took photos of her to show to his partner (who would not believe the progress without seeing these) to discuss the drastically advanced healing process. We then told him that we had been treating her with Pure Vet and Pure Mist.

We will be taking her back to him at the end of January for a final consultation with him and his partner, as he cannot believe it is the same dog.
